The drawings were received on 3/30/05. These drawings are approved.

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

In claim 9, line 1, it appears that "9" should be -8--.

In claims 16 and 17, line 1; it appears that "13" should be –15--, and that "holdup" should be –holding--.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

For clarity and/or definiteness, it appears that –sensed by the first sensor—should be inserted after "conveyor" (claim 1, line 20), that –not engaging the sod—should be inserted after "position" (claim 2, line 3), that a comma should be inserted after "conveyor" (claim 2, line 3)

All claims should be revised carefully to correct all other deficiencies similar to the ones noted above.

Claims 8, 9, 13-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nunes, JR. (US 3429377).

Page 3

Nunes, Jr. discloses an apparatus and method having substantially all the claimed features. Note trailing edge sensor 78, "retaining device" including assembly 88, and ejector device which reads on the mechanism which operates and includes element 125, "holding conveyor" 81 in "activated" position (fig. 7) and "deactivated" position (fig. 8). The controller reads on the mechanism that detects movement of the trailing edge sensor 78 and controls the apparatus to move from the position of Fig. 7 to the position of Fig. 8 which rotationally adjust the orientation of the roll. An inherent delay is present between the moment the edge detector detects the edge and the moment the roll is ejected, the delay dependent on the location of the edge detector relative to the roll. What is not explicitly disclosed is a user definable time delay; however, it is deemed inherent that the delay can be adjusted by changing the size, length, and shape of one or more mechanical linkages between the sensor 78 and the connecting rod 125, such as elements 94, 100, 105, 124, 126, etc., since the apparatus is substantially all mechanical like a mechanical time device. Therefore, It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art to adjust the time delay by changing the elements as noted above to adjust the final position of the roll.

Claims 1-4 and 6 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action.

Application/Control Number: 10/618,844

Art Unit: 3654

Claims 12 and 17 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims. The prior art of record does not show or render obvious an apparatus as recited in claim 12 or a method as recited in claim 17.

Applicant's arguments filed 3/30/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Relative to claims 8 and 13, note the rejection above.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
